THE GW SENIOR MANAGER COURSE IN NATIONAL SECURITY LEADERSHIP

National Security Studies Program

YOUR NATION LOOKS TO YOU FOR ANSWERS. FIND THEM IN THE HEART OF WASHINGTON, DC.
In the GW Senior Manager Course in National Security Leadership, participants learn to analyze multidimensional challenges, evaluate policy options, negotiate with allies and rivals, and build results-oriented coalitions.

The Senior Manager Course in National Security Leadership is certified by the VA as a reimbursable executive education program under the Post-9/11 GI Bill.
Highlights include:

UNDERSTANDING THE STRATEGIC ENVIRONMENT
- The interagency context
- Congress, the media, and the influence industry; the national security budgeting process
- Global challenges: regional threats, counterterrorism, nuclear proliferation, cyber security, critical infrastructure protection, energy and climate security

EARNING AND USING INFLUENCE
- Strategic communication
- Cultural awareness
- Adaptive leadership

AQUIRING PROBLEM-SOLVING TOOLS
- Mediation and negotiation
- Case studies and collaborative exercises
- Complex, multidimensional crisis-management simulations

FORGING PROFESSIONAL RELATIONSHIPS
- Lectures from internationally-renowned experts
- Networking with top policymakers and peers
- Site visits to neighboring embassies and agencies
Based at the renowned Elliott School of International Affairs, the GW National Security Studies Program educates senior executives from the U.S. and around the world working in the national security field.

Learn more at www.gwu.edu/~nssp and enroll today!
Email: nssp@gwu.edu
Phone: (202) 994-4809

THE GEORGE WASHINGTON UNIVERSITY
WASHINGTON, DC